It is my pleasure to introduce to you the Department of Plant Science and Crop Protection. This Website provides a very significant window through which our Vision, Mission, key services and products can be highlighted. A visit through our Department will reveal an intellectual powerhouse based on a unique diversity of expertise that is committed to underpin the challenges of crop production in tropical environment.

In addition to generating and imparting knowledge, the Department offers a comprehensive range of services to the greater Kenyan community [8]. Key among these are advisory and consultancy service to farmers, tailor-made courses, outreach services [9], production of farmer manuals, and participation in agricultural flora.
